

Show Generation Zapped At Your Library!

Here is what you can say or e-mail:

As a card-holder at this library, I would like to suggest that you order a copy of the documentary Generation Zapped and have a screening for community members.

We are all surrounded by our wireless devices and we know very little about the possible long-term health effects that may come from constant exposure to the microwave radiation emitted from these devices. We are exposed on a daily basis to our cell phones, smart meters, WIFI, wireless music playing devices, Bluetooth, baby monitors, cell towers, cordless cell phones and smart appliances. This important film discusses the science and raises awareness about the dangers of wireless technology.

Also, nationwide, a 5G network is being built which requires cell antennas to be placed on utility poles every 2-10 houses in our neighborhoods. There are already over 200 of these "small cells" just outside resident homes in the town of Huntington, with hundreds more on the way. Viewing this film will give people the knowledge they need in order to take measures to protect themselves, their families, and their communities. There are some simple solutions that most of us are not currently aware of that can make a big difference in the long-run.

Huntington library has shown this film, they made it a library program, and we were told it was the most successful library program to date at that location. Our community deserves the chance to see this important film and to start the discussion about the dangers of wireless technology and the solutions that exist to help us stay safe.
